THE UNION BRIDGE.

WHAT JUDGE COCHRAN THINKS

of the Prospects of the Vote on Subscrip on Saturday-The Terminal Survey Going on With a Large Corps of Engineers-The City's Best Chance.

Mr. Laub, the engineer in charge of the preliminary survey for the Union bridge ennections and terminal tracks, has a full force of surveyors and assistants at work running the lines which it is desired to occupy with the tracks of the company. They were engaged yesterday in surveying along the bank of the creek from the east end of the projected tunnel, around the Peninsula and past the Hempfield tunnel. Mr. Lindenthal, the consulting engineer, expects to return to the city to-day. Speaking of him recently, the Engineering could have been made on either side of the Atlantic to prepare plans for the big Caroline Horstman is named therein as equipped engineer, graduatine from the equipped engineer, graduatine from the the Atlantic to prepare plans for the big Hoboken bridge. Air, Laub is also a finely equipped engineer, graduating from the Stattgart University with a standing which won him a commission as a lieutenant in the German army.

The people continue to drop in at the McLure house and inspect the surveys and plans there displayed. The interest grows steadily in the project as the election approaches closer. The feeling seems to have become general that the adoption of the ordinance cannot be taken as secure, and that its defeat would be a serious backset to the community. An INTRILIGANCER reporter last night saked Judge Oochran what he thought of the outlook for the vote on Saturday. Said he:

"I can only judge that it will be favorable from what I see in the papers and what people tell me, though I do not get time to be around much or see many.

"The only danger to be apprehended is the entire confidence people have that the vote will be overwhelmingly for subscription. It is to be feared that many friends will stay away, believing there will be enough without their vote to carry the matter. Too much confidence is often as dangerous as a vigorous, organized opposition.

"If the people want the bridge and im-sition.

"If the people want the bridge and improvements proposed they ought to say so by a full vote. A bare three-fifths majority such as the law requires will with a small vote look as if the people are not alive to the great interests and improvements involved. I find some who have

"If Wheeling will take on a new life and build houses four to six stories high like madern live cities do, there is room inside her limits for a population of 200,000 comfortably housed peopla at reasonable rents and room also for factories, mills, etc., to give them employment. The city is in the center of one of the best and richests spots in the world, and one of the most beautiful and healthy. Why has she not grown more rapidly? Why have scores of her live business men, hundreds of her best young men and hundreds of thousands of her money sought homes, employment and plant elsewhere?

Referring to the argument of some people that the subscription will increase taxee, Judge Cochran pointed out that the increase will be but triffing, while the bridge and railways to be constructed will make a decided increase in taxable values, thus resily lightening the burden of taxpayers. Then again, he said, if the bridge should pay, as there is every reason to believe it will, the county's share of the capital atock ought to pay her 6 per cent, which would meet the interest on the bonder; and a 6 per cent stock could he bonds; and a 6 per cent stock could easily be sold at $120, so that the invest the bolta; and a b bet char above testing easily be cold at $120$, so that the investment might in the iong run be a source of profit—a view which gains force when the history of the county's investment in the Pittsburgh, Wheeling & Kentucky stock is recalled.

"What is the company doing," asked the reporter, "lo get out the vote?"

"Nothing. It is not our election. It would be totally foreign to the object of the election to do anything to influence the result of a vote which is to demonstrate the feeling of your people toward the enterprise. The vote ought to be large and overwhelmingly favorable if the people here desire to make the best impression and do themselves the greatest good. It is an invitation to capital and enterprise to some here and welcome."

"I should not be here at all," added the Judge, "except to meet and consult with our engineers and prepare to have a show for a favorable place, to have our prides. our engineers and prepare to have a show our engineers and propare to have a show for a favorable place to have our bridge and its approaches and terminals in case the vote is estifactory and the subscrip-tion is promptly made. The terms of the ordinance are estifactory and I have no doubt of prompt work and early com-pletion if all goes as it ought here."

The Riverside man said: "The scale as sign-ed by our company is in the aggregate $3 higher per 100 tons than what we paid last year, and this we agreed to pay in the face of a falling market, with prices at least 15 per cent lower than we were getting at this time last year. Another thing, the Knights of Labor scale we have signed is as high in every particular, and han the scale of the Amalgamation. MISS SALLIE HINTON. New Star makes her Debut in Wheeling last Evening. Miss Sallie Hinton made her first au carance in Wheeling as a star at the Opera House last evening. The lack of knowledge of her ability kept the house down, and this result was not counteract ed by the play chosen, a new version of the old "Hidden Hand." As a boy in the the old "Hidden Hand." As a boy in the first act Miss Hinton reminded one of Carrie Swain; clad in the habiliments of her own sex later in the play she recalls Cora Tanner. In some respects she is unlike either. She is good looking, a capable actrees, and sings very pleasingly several new and taking songs. On the whole she was a success, and may be expected to become a popular and famous star in the future.

"TRUE IRISH REARTS," Pleasing Irigh Drama at the Gran

Dan McCarthy's Irish drams, "True Irish Hearts," was presented at the Grand last night to a big house upstairs and a good one down, by Mr. McCarthy, Mr. J. 2. Sullivan, Miss Kittle Coleman and a very satisfactory company. The drama is a typical one, with pretty scenery, characteristic humor, Irish songs, a piper and some enjoyable dancing. It has the real flavor of the "ould sod," and in the scene n the second act where Darby (Mr. Mc-Carthy) and Kitty (Miss Coleman) iniulge in a terpsichorean contest in which he old lady finally joins, an Irishman in the audience last night was carried away by the abandon of the occasion and joined in the hilarity with an encouraging shout to the did lady which convaised not only the audience, but the company as well. This is a key to the drama; it is decept-ively like life in "the little isle so green," and worthy of its popularity. It will be repeated this evening.

Each convict has his allotted task and is required to perform that duty unless there is some good reason for his not doing it.
The trouble between Superintender
Robertson and the contractors arose over Robertson and the contractors arose over the changing of the gnards. It has been the custom of the Superintendent to sta-tion the gnards at the beginning of each month. Sometimen a gnard would be continued at the same station for several months, but Wednesday there was a grand change all around and new guards went into all the shops. This was entirely un-satisfactory to the contractors and they refused to allow work to proceed. Considerable talk of Wheeling's bridge elections nity.

Considerable talk of Wheeling's bridge election to-morrow has been heard for several days past, and considerable interest is manifest. The question of a foot-bridge is more particularly discussed than the bridge proper, and the great desire for one or both by residents on this side of the river is fully apparent, and they are talking it up with spirit. A Wheeling gentleman, who came over to import the state of the time of the river is fully apparent, and they are talking it up with spirit. A wheeling gentleman, who came over to pent most of his time in answering questions about the bridge and the election put by citizens here. The people want a bridge, and want it healty, and if salk would get it it certainly would be built. On Tuesday Ilmmy Dorsey and a man named Moffatt were arrested by Officer Williams, charged with releasing two prasoners, "Slug" Craig and Henry Socheimer, from the city lockup. The outer door key of the jail is always kept in a drawer in the Mayor's office under lock and key, and it is said Dorsey and Moffat entered the room the city of the standard the triends, who are all glass workers. The defendants engaged Lawyer George Duncan, and the trial was set for 2 p. m. yesterday. Their guilt could not be proven or disproven and they were held for court. The released prisoners were not rearrested between allowed to go free, and they are related to the trial. Whether or not the accused are guilty of the offence, the officials should not allow keys and other articles are kept, to be infented by the motier gang which hang out there day and night; for should some important prisoner escape under such circumstances as the above, some one would be held responsible, and it is the general opinion that an officer should be in the hange of the plait all times, or dispense with the company of loader, whose talying qualities are well known.
